

Dr. Michael Corriere has served as the Director of Officer Programs and Plans at the Navy Medicine Manpower, Personnel, Training and Education Command since 2008. Additionally, he is an Associate Professor at the University of Maryland University College where he teaches Masters level courses in Project Management, Operations Management, and Information Management.

Dr. Corriere attended the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland, graduating with merit in 1988, while earning a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering. In 1994, he received a M.B.A. with concentrations in Finance and Human Resources from the University of New Mexico. In 2000, he was named a distinguished graduate from the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California, while receiving a M.S. degree in Operations Research. He completed a Ph.D. in Public Administration in 2006 from American University in Washington D.C.

Dr. Corriere has held a variety of leadership positions in program analysis and evaluation, program management, and project management. He holds the Project Management Professional (PMP) certification, the CompTIA Security+ certification, and is also a Fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives.