

Mr. Kramer possesses a diverse background in Government, Commercial, and International contracting. He has held various contract management positions within the Department of the Navy, CIA, and for the last 25 years within Lockheed Martin. He is currently a Director of Contracts for Lockheed Martin Information Systems and Global Solutions, with responsibility for OCI compliance, Government Property Management, Risk Management and Assessment. Mr. Kramer earned a bachelor's degree from the College of William and Mary, and a law degree from the George Mason University School of Law.